

CML Software

January 2016 - First orders for 2017!!

CML Software has made the surprise announcement that it has secured an advance order book of over 12 months, and is now actively looking at orders for the year commencing January 2017, after a stellar year of sales.

The Company is also said to have recently agreed contracts with another large – but as yet unnamed – agency, which further improves its market share in the medium to large agency market-place.

Al Chetwode, Managing Director of CML Software is quoted as saying “We are delighted with the company’s progress. The order book is in great shape, with a full year’s visibility of back-orders in place, and we have left sufficient slack in the schedule for 2016 to allow us to concentrate on delivering great service to our existing clients, at the same time as delivering all of the work we have contracted. “ He adds “This feels like a great endorsement from the market, who are clearly loving our Radar software and online portal suites.”
